

Alisa Palson
alisa.palson@gmail.com
(480) 394 - 1650
alisa.codes

Skills

JavaScript, HTML, CSS, JQuery, Bootstrap, Python, Git
Customer service, Problem solving, Detail-oriented, Quick learner
Microsoft Office, Windows & Linux OS, terminal

Education

Hacker School<sup>1</sup>, Manhattan, NY

Summer 2013 batch

Mesa Community College, Scottsdale, AZ

Computer Science Associates Degree, 2009 - in progress

Greenway High School, Phoenix, AZ

High School Diploma, 2009

Volunteer Work

Heatsync Labs<sup>2</sup>, Mesa, AZ

member, August 2012- present

HackPHX, Mesa, AZ

HTML5 game hackathon, December 2012

Arduino Hackathon, March 2013

Geekssocciated Press, Phoenix, AZ

on-air personality, 2012 - 2013

Work Experience

A Small Orange, Austin, TX

Live Support Ninja, March 2014 - April 2014

Gamestop, Austin, TX

Senior Game Advisor, Project Manager, 2010 – February 2014

#1 in customer service in district

Close/Open the store, run register, clean, restock, organized back stock products

Little Caesars, Phoenix, AZ

Cashier, 2007 – 2010

Managed register, while maintaining all other operations

Demon Drama Theater, Greenway High School, Phoenix, AZ

Stage Manager, 2007 – 2008

Managed over 1,000 students in multiple productions

Make-up Head, 2004 – 2008

Traveled to different high schools to teach classes to 500+ students

Light Board Operator, 2006 – 2008

1. Hacker School is a 3 month long full-time program similar to a writers retreat for programmers. Located in New York City, students spend Monday - Thursday 10am - 6:30pm writing code, pair programming, collaborating on projects, and overall refining their skills as a developer.

2. HeatSync Labs is 501(c) Non Profit organization to help promote the education of electronics, technology, creating, and opening up a space for the practice of learning such things.